SAUL AMONG THE PROPHETS.

Major Thomas has "gone back to his first love." Before the war he was a Democrat of the Douglas school, and trained with the Blairs; during the war he was severely Radical; since the war he has gradually toned down, and on Wednesday he "reached home again" by accepting the Democratic nomination for Mayor. For four years he has held the office as a Radical. He now proposes to swap horses and become a Democratic Mayor. Our local politics can furnish no somersault in any way a parallel to this. Mr. Thomas was badgered out of the Radical party for not coming up to a proper division of the loaves and fishes, and the Democrats accepting him as an honest man propose to elect him by 2,000 majority on Tuesday next. Mr. A. J. Baresche, who secured his nomination before a convention which had been packed in the interest of Senator Joseph Brown, was all through the war an ultra secessionist. It is believed that Mr. Thomas is the only man who could be pitted against the Radical candidate, Nathan Cole, with any show of success.

A NEW TRADE CHANNEL FOR ST. LOUIS.

The strong efforts lately made by our merchants to secure a large part of the Shreveport trade and to extend their business into the Red river country, is meeting with all the success and encouragement that could be hoped for. A Red river through line has been formed, and it is said that ten boats will be put into the trade. The railroad being built from Houston northward by St. Louis capitalist, is intended to complete the link by which this city will secure direct and important trade relations with the most populous part of Texas. An active competition is springing up in New Orleans, or we might rather say an active struggle to retain the Red river business, which for years has been wholly within their grasp. Five of our leading insurance companies have agreed to establish an agency in Shreveport on a plan much more liberal than those of New Orleans. Large shipments of machinery, agricultural implements, etc., are being made from this port.

Thirty-four tickets to the Marine Hospital were issued during the month.

THEATRICAL.

At the Olympic, Mr. Joseph Proctor has appeared during the week in his favorite plays "Jack Cade" and "Nick of the Woods." His acting is careful, finished and successful. He has been greeted with fair houses every night.

Miss Ada Webb's engagement at De Bar's has been highly profitable. Her sprightliness, versatility and startling contrasts render all of her plays exciting and enjoyable.

Nothing of especial interest is on the boards at Howard's Opera House and the Varieties. Our theatrical entertainments for the most part during the season have been about mediocre, and while we have had the acting of rising stars, very good of its kind, we have missed the most of the stars of the first magnitude that would have been better, and have been entirely without those constellations which are always best.

PUMPING THEIR CANDIDATE.

Mr. Nathan Cole, the Radical candidate for Mayor, is known to be a man of puritan antecedents and very strict in his Christian observances. He was among the active friends of the Sunday laws and was one of the petitioners against their repeal. Our German citizens, especially those who usually vote the Republican ticket, have been a good deal on the anxious seat since this gentleman's selection as their candidate for the Mayoralty, and have finally relieved the desire to know "what manner of man he is" by addressing him a little note through the hands of a big committee, and asking him squarely and fairly whether he was going to run against their "lager beer and lively habits o' Sundays," to which they received the following very gracious and somewhat guarded answer: "I am in favor of the largest liberty, and concede to others the same right to their opinions which I claim for myself. While as an individual I adhere to the Christian observance of the Sabbath, it will not be my duty as Mayor, if elected, to force those opinions upon others, nor do I believe it the business of the government to interfere with the liberty of the citizen in any matter where it does not encroach upon the rights of others. If elected Mayor I shall regard myself as an executive officer, and as such shall endeavor to see that the laws are so enforced as not to permit the liberties of my fellow-citizen to be trespassed upon nor their guaranteed rights to be violated. ***

An Armed Man Discovered in a Peddler's Pack and Killed.

From the Joliet (Ill.) Signal.]

A short time since, just at dark, a peddler, carrying a large pack, appeared at the door of a wealthy farmer in the town of Green Garden, in this county, and requested the privilege of remaining over night. The farmer being away from home, he was informed by the hired man that he could not stay. He then requested the privilege of leaving his pack until morning, as he was very tired and could not carry it further that night. This was granted, and the pack deposited in one corner of the sitting room. During the evening some of the females of the household had occasion to move it, and taking hold of it discovered that there was something suspicious about the contents. The hired man was called, and upon taking hold of it found that it contained a man. He quickly stepped into an adjoining room and returning with a revolver, motioned the family to stand aside, and at once proceeded to fire three shots into it. A piercing shriek issued from it, and on ripping off the outside covering, a man with a large bowie knife and a revolver clinched in his hands, was found weltering in his blood. Two of the shots had proved fatal. The neighbors were alarmed, but no traces of the peddlar who left the precious pack could be found.

CITY COUNCIL.

Official Proceedings of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen.

[Tuesday's Proceedings Continued.]

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

Upon a resolution that the Street Commissioner open and drain a pond of water now standing south of Calhoun street, between Shelby and Tennessee streets, the draining being recommended by the Health Officer, your committee report adverse.

Adopted.

Upon the petition of John B. Leach and W. Y. C. Humes, stating that John B. Leach is the owner of a lot on the south side of Court street, immediately east of Dr. Frayser's lot, fronting 42½ feet on Court street, running back 148½ feet, that W. Y. C. Humes is the owner of the lot west of and adjoining the residence of Dr. Chandler, on Madison street, fronting 30 feet on Madison street, running back 148½ feet, that said lots form a section of Fourth street, and necessary for its extension, etc., your committee report as follows, to-wit: adverse.

T. W. O'DONNELL,
Chairman Improvement Committee.

Adopted.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Upon the petition of G. M. Venable, assignee of H. Brown & Co., contractors, etc., to lay the Nicolson pavement, asking for the issuance to him, as assignee, five city bonds of one thousand dollars each, etc., your committee recommend the issuing of the bonds asked for in the petition.

Adopted.

MEMPHIS, April 6, 1869.

Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN—In answer to the resolution obliging me to report what disposition has been made of the bonds, I report that we have used twelve of them in negotiating for $20,000 from J. T. Latham, ($10,000 on eight months and $10,000 on twelve months time,) at the rate of twelve per cent. interest, and seven bonds have been used in securing $10,000 from the Mississippi Valley Insurance Company, at the same rate of interest, but at thirty days call. The money will not likely be called for unless the company should meet with a heavy loss.

Very respectfully,
L. M. WALCOTT,
Chairman Finance Committee.

Adopted.

MEMPHIS, April 6, 1869.

R. J. Morgan, Esq., City Attorney:

DEAR SIR—On the 22d of January, the day that Levy & Borg placed their acceptances or certificates into the hands of the Notary to make demand, etc., they bought bonds at 53½c, as their books will show. On the day of the actual protest (23d) they neither bought nor sold any bonds. Supposing them to have been worth the 53½—of which you can inform yourself—the value would be ascertained as follows:

Amount of bonds, $35,000 at 53½c	$ 18,725 00
Interest at 1 per cent. (to be calculated up to payments as heretofore made)
Add protest fees paid	6 10

They are willing to settle on this basis, taking the ledger balances at market value. We put the interest at one per cent., because Mr. Wolcott said they would pay at that rate per month.

Yours truly,
STEPHENS & SMITH.

The 22d was the day they applied in person for the bonds, before proceeding to have them protested.

I agree to the proposition, except I am only willing to allow legal interest.

R. J. MORGAN, City Attorney.

Approved.

JNO. W. LEFTWICH, Mayor.

On the petition of J. J. Powers respecting the affairs of S. P. Bankhead (deceased) with the city, the committee report that by the most liberal arrangement there is due the city $1,870 17, upon the payment of which the securities of said Bankhead will be released.

Upon the petition of A. Hopton in relation to his claim for right of way to open Wellington street from Union to Madison streets, say $2,100 00, praying that the amount be paid with interest from the time the city took possession of the property, etc., your committee report to grant interest.

Adopted.

Upon the petition of Amanda Tuft, stating that her property on Beale street, No. 109, has been assessed for city taxes at $6,000, an amount beyond its value, say by $1,000, and asks for an appropriate and just reduction in the valuation, your committee report rejected.

Adopted.

Upon the petition of Thomas Wickersham, representative of the estate of James Wickersham, deceased, asking the city to accept a part of said decendents' real estate in payment of the city tax due on the whole thereof, your committee report rejected.

Adopted.

Upon the petition of James Schooles, asking the city to refund to him $120, which he states he advanced in 1868 for the attempt to place a flowing fountain in Court Square by driving down iron pipe, etc., and which enterprise proved a failure, your committee report rejected.

Adopted.

REAL ESTATE COMMITTEE.

Upon the petition of A. S. Mitchell, stating that in 1866 the Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court for this District appointed him receiver for lots 17 and 18, in block 19, in the city of Memphis, upon which is situated a large brick warehouse; that subsequently, say in the summer of 1867, the Memphis city authorities established the grade of Clinton street, and began the excavation thereof in front of said warehouse, to the material damage thereof, causing an outlay of about $3,000 in underpinning, etc., to prevent the same from tumbling down, etc.; that said Clinton street is still unfinished, and in such condition as to prevent the profitable use of said property. Wherefore, petitioner prays that the city tax for the past year be abated, and the valuation of said property, say for city tax, be reduced to its real value, etc., your committee report adversely.

With the approval of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen the contract will be closed.

Very respectfully, etc.,
JNO. W. LEFTWICH, Mayor.

Adopted.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES

Upon the petition of sundry citizens of the city of Memphis, residing in the Eighth and Ninth Wards, asking that Robeson street be opened to Boundary avenue, say from its intersection with Jones avenue, a distance of about one hundred and fifty feet, etc., report as follows: The Special Committee to whom was referred the opening of Robeson street, from Jones' to Boundary avenues, report that they have purchased a lease of the ground, for six years, for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars; and would further recommend that the ground, being about two hundred feet, be condemned, and the opening of said street made permanent—the one hundred and fifty dollars above mentioned to be placed to the credit of L. M. Wolcott, Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Adopted.

Upon the resolution proposing to accept the proposition of the President of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company, to deliver at their depot in the city of Memphis, free of charge to the city, Tishomingo gravel sufficient to pave a block between two streets, the city to lay the same under the direction of the City Engineer on Third street, between Adams and Jefferson, etc., your Committee report that they are unable to find any one square in the city where the property holders are all willing to avail themselves of the benefit of the proposition. We would recommend that an ordinance be passed, compelling property owners to accept such pavement and pay for the same after laid down by the city.

Respectfully,
L. D. VINCENT, Chairman.

Adopted.

By Alderman Marshall:

Resolved, etc., That there be a committee of three appointed by this Board to confer with the County Commissioners and the President of Elmwood Cemetery in regard to the building of a road, passable at all seasons of the year to said cemetery, and report back to this board at their next meeting.

Upon a resolution appointing a special committee to confer with the County Commissioners and the President of the Elmwood Cemetery in regard to the building of a passable road from the city to said cemetery, etc., your committee report: That they would recommend the building of a road to Elmwood Cemetery, commencing at the bridge head of Madison street, from thence to Elmwood as surveyed by City Engineer; and would also recommend that the Street Commissioner be ordered to commence the work immediately.

Respectfully,
E. MARSHALL,
Chairman Special Committee.

Referred to Improvement Committee.

MEMPHIS, April 5, 1869.

Alderman Marshall, Chairman of Committee:

DEAR SIR: The streets and roads from the city to Elmwood Cemetery in many places being impassable, we will cheerfully co-operate with the city in making a good road by rounding it up agreable to the plan and survey of the City Engineer, commencing at the east side of the Charleston Railroad depot bridge; thence out the Pigeon Roost road to Dunlap avenue; thence with said avenue to the north gate of the cemetery. We will pay $1,000 towards it, provided the work is done this spring, which would make a good road by next winter. Very respectfully,

JOS. LENOW,
President of Elmwood Cemetery.

Upon the petition of Wm. R. Moore and divers other merchants of the city of Memphis, complainining of the unreasonable and unjust discriminations in the city privilege tax on the different classes of mercantile business in the city, asking for a modification and equalization of the same, etc., your committee report that from the best information they have been able to procure, after a conference with business men of various callings, they deem the tax upon privileges to be as equitable and just as any that could be devised, and report unfavorably upon the above petition.

S. E. DYER, Chairman.

Adopted.

PETITIONS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 5, 1869.

By Alderman Marshall.

Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

We, the undersigned, respectfully recommend your petitioner, Mrs. Bridget Crowe, a widow, with a family of four small children; she finds that she is not able to support them here, and not wishing to become troublesome to this county, your petitioner therefore prays your honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen to give her a free transportation to Erie, Pennsylvania, or so far as you can with a recommendation from other authorities to whom she is going, as her friends, as far as they are able for poor people, will try and help her. And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

William Elliott, W. L. Allen, and quite a number of others.

Referred to the Mayor.

By Alderman Durff:

Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

Your petitioners, who are engaged in the "retail cigar and tobacco business," in the city of Memphis, would respectfully represent to your honorable body that they are unjustly and injuriously effected by the ordinances requiring them to close their places of business and to abstain from business on Sunday. Until recently the ordinances touching them in this regard were not enforced and they were not damaged thereby. Your petitioners attach no blame to the present police officers, who are simply acting in the strict performance of their duties in compelling your petitioners to obey existing laws, but your petitioners appeal to your honorable body for the redress of a grievance which is fearfully injuring their business.

Your petitioners' places of business are in the heart of the city, where rents are high; they are subject to heavy National, State, county and municipal taxes, and in order that they may be able to pay these heavy burdens and earn a livelihood besides, they must be enabled to compete with all classes of persons who deal in tobacco and cigars at retail. It is natural that petitioners should have regular customers.

Petitioners represent that under the ordinances of the city drug stores, fruit stores, stands at hotels, restaurants and numerous places of a like character are permitted to do business on Sunday; all these places sell and vend cigars and tobacco, and on Sunday, and all these places, which exist in various parts of the city, and which are numerous, are permitted to engage in this business to the serious loss and detriment of petitioners. Petitioners, who are prohibited from doing business on Sunday not only lose the profits of the sales of this day, but also loose their customers who are thereby induced to resort to other places for the purchase of cigars and tobacco. Petitioners submit that it is no greater violation of God's laws to sell tobacco and cigars at places where such articles are exclusively sold, than it is to sell such articles at places where fruits, drugs, victuals, etc., are sold.

FOR SALE.

POSTPONEMENT
—OF—
HENDERSON COUNTY
Land Sale.

THE undersigned, who were appointed Commissioners by the Kentucky Legislature to superintendand conduct the "Henderson county Land Sale" of William McLain, Esq., take this method of announcing to the public that the drawing of prizes in the enterprise has been postponed until the First Day of September, 1869.

When on the 1st of October last the enterprise was laid before the public, it was confidently expected that it could be concluded by the 14th of January, 1869, the day fixed for the drawing, but several causes, none of which were anticipated and which could not be controlled by the Commissioners or by the owner of the property, combined to prevent it. Among these we may mention the failure to obtain printed matter at the time contracted for, the extreme stringency of the money market, and the distrust in the minds of the people of enterprises like this, induced by causes which are yet fresh in the recollection of the public.

Though tickets are now being rapidly sold, a sufficient number have not been disposed of to justify a transfer of the property without bringing loss upon the owner.

The farming lands embraced in the enterprise, nearly eight hundred acres of which are cleared and tillable, will be rented out for the present year—1869. Good bonds for the rent will be taken, and these bonds will be assigned to the persons who draw the said farms.

The money for the tickets sold is in the hands of the agents, and should any shareholder be dissatisfied with the postponement, his money will be refunded on the presentation of his ticket.

The undersigned think it will not be amiss to say in this connection that they have no pecuniary interest in the above enterprise, nor will they have in the future. They will not receive one cent for their services, and they do not now, and will not at any time, own, hold or control a single ticket in the enterprise; nor one dollar received from the sale of tickets will be used by them, nor can the owner of the property touch, use or control any part of it until after the drawing takes place; and should the enterprise, by any unforeseen contingency, prove a failure, all money received from the sale of tickets will be promptly returned on presentation of the tickets to the agent from whom bought.

THURSDAY, : : : : : : APRIL 8, 1869

THE war of the roses is still raging. History tells us of the "Battle of Spurs," the "Battle of the Books," the "Battle of the Frogs and Mice," the "Battle of the Giants," the "Battle of the Herrings," the "Battle of the Kegs," the "Battle of the Poets," the "Battle of the Nations," the "Battle of the Standard," the "Battle of the Thirty," and "The Tearless Battle," and we now have in our midst "The Battle of the Thieves and Plunderers." In Memphis the Radical party is split in twain. The members of each faction are burnishing up their old rusty sabres, and drums are beating, fifes are squeaking, banners are streaming, dung carts are rumbling, and the beligerent factions, as they snarl and growl at each other, look like a hundred-headed dog, with each head containing a separate and distinct hydrophobia. The approaching judicial election is the cause of all this racket and hubbub. The scent of office causes a carpet-bagger to rush from his filthy den just as naturally as the approaching twilight causes the owls and bats to swoop from their hiding places. The shout of office is the scalawags slogan. Doodle-bugs are sometimes hard to coax out of their little dirt graves; but it is never difficult to induce a Radical to gush out of the ground when the scent of office floats upon the air. But the misfortune is there are more thieves than there is plunder to divide—more aspirants than there is offices to fill. The consequence is the scramble is equal to that among soldiers in a sacked city. The leaders of the different factions, into which the "truly loil" seem at present to be divided, have girded on their armor and are making terrible war upon each other. The clangor of the conflict and the hope of spoils has caused the jackalls of the party to rush howling through the streets to some place of general convocation, where the public is edified by hearing the scapegraces expose each other's villainy. Such performances as these have been frequent of late, in which our ancient enemy, Hon. WILLIAM HUNTER, has played a leading part, assisted and supported by his doughty lieutenant and chief fugleman, P. D. BEECHER, of tax-title and Hospital fame. In these exhibitions, held mainly at night in the Criminal Court-room, the notorious Chairman of the County Court, BARBOUR LEWIS, has been showed up in sundry attitudes, wherein he is charged with grave party peccadilos, such as opposing the nomination of ED. SHAW for County Commissioner, and neglecting to vote for his sable brother after he had been nominated and placed in the race under the championship of his chief trainer, the immaculate HUNTER. And then the unctious BLEWIS was charged, too, with defeating the irrepressible little BEECHER in his aspirations for Collector of Internal Revenue, which said fat office BLEWIS had a sly inclination to appropriate to his own use and benefit. Now for all these actings and doings, he, the aforesaid BARBOUR, was arraigned for trial, and fiercely prosecuted by his quandam friend, HUNTER, who demanded that the accused should be convicted of high crimes and misdemeanors against the Radical party, that he shall be expelled therefrom and denied all future fellowship with the "trooly loil." But BARBOUR, not relishing this summary dismissal from the party of his love, and unwilling to submit to the ostracism which King HUNTER was disposed to subject him to, straightway set about to take signal vengeance upon his detested foe. He accordingly sent around some of his trusty henchmen to drum up his forces, and to bring about a general gathering of his particular followers, in order that he might vindicate himself and effectually squelch HUNTER for all time to come by defeating that amiable gentleman for the office of Chancellor, to which it is said he modestly aspired, even though he should be compelled to do it with a decent and respectable man. BARBOUR BLEWIS proceeded to put his well matured scheme of vengeance into execution by calling a meeting of the loyal masses at the Municipal Court-room, which, when assembled, he converted into a high court of impeachment, and forthwith arraigned HUNTER upon a presentiment, in which he charged him with every crime known in the calendar of criminal offenses, not the least among which, in BARBOUR'S view, was the persecution to which the AVALANCHE was subjected last summer by the capricious tyranny of the said HUNTER. Though there was a feeble opposition and a few dissenting voices among the colored part of the audience, who still believed HUNTER the special champion of negro equality and the colored man's rights; yet BARBOUR has chosen his jury with his usual tact and skill, and carried triumphantly a verdict of guilty, and HUNTER, so long the war horse of the negro Radicals, is at last turned out to grass. Consequently if we must have a Judge selected by the Radicals to sit upon the bench of the Chancery Court, we will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that their choice is likely to fall upon an able lawyer, an upright and courteous man—the Hon. WILLIAM M. SMITH, the present incumbent. For this result, however, we do not give any credit to the mass of the party, though the more decent and respectable portion of its white members have contributed largely to bringing it about, and BLEWIS, quick to comprehend the situation, seeing an opportunity so favorable to his settled purpose of crushing his enemy, did not hesitate to join the movement and turn it to his own advantage. So the oily knave, for once in his life, is likely to have some hand in doing a good action, by sending into hopeless retirement a most troublesome and pestilent demagogue and office-seeker, and placing in a most important and responsible position one of two very worthy gentlemen, either the present incumbent or that good and true man, Hon. JOHN P. CARUTHERS, than whom none would more worthily wear the judicial ermine. The Chancery Court is now the only one in the city that can be reached without passing through a vestibule filled with a crowd of idle, loafing negroes, and had not HUNTER'S aspirations been nipped in the bud, before he reached this goal of his ambition, this would doubtless, under his administration, have become as great a resort for these worthless pests of society as are the other court-rooms, and particularly that one where he holds his court by day and his political caucuses by night. We look upon this interesting fight with perfect complacency, feeling assured that the combatants will, in the end, accomplish some good for the public, if not for themselves.

THE New York Sun, one of the ablest of Radical journals, speaks thus of the situation: "General BUTLER proposes to make broad the gate and easy the way for rebels to get back into the Government. Universal amnesty and impartial suffrage have long been the watchwords of Mr. GREELEY and the Tribune. General JACK HAMILTON, of Texas, is in Washington, advocating the utmost liberality toward our erring brethren of secession proclivities. There is a disposition among the Republican leaders, so general that it is already virtually the policy of the party, to let the rebels back. The exceptions are so few, the number who will be kept out so small, that they amount, practically, to nothing. We do not for the present question, and we do not propose to discuss, the intrinsic wisdom of this policy. We design simply to call attention to the prospect which it opens to the Republican party. That prospect is the grave. Whoever supposes that the money and the brains of the white rebels will not be more than a match for the negroes and the few scattering white Republicans in the former slave States, has a confidence which we do not share. These States may be expected to vote solid, or nearly so, for a Democratic candidate for President at the next election. And we also doubt whether a large majority of the Democratic party in the free States would not prefer ROBERT E. LEE to General GRANT for President to-day. The terrible burden of the heavy taxes is all the while pressing powerfully against the Republican party. On the whole it must be admitted that any prudent life insurance company would have to regard the risk on the Republican party as extra hazardous at the present time.

IT will gratify our readers to learn that there is now in our city a gentleman representing the Corps Legislative of Switzerland, with regard to the emigration to the State of Tennessee of about one thousand families of Swiss peasantry. He comes highly recommended to Mr. JOHN EVERITT. He is an itinerant bishop in the East Indies, and on his way home passed through the United States. On arriving in Switzerland he was questioned with regard to the United States, and Tennessee especially, and was finally induced to return on a tour of observation. He leaves for the interior to-day with the view of making such an inspection of affairs as will enable him to report intelligently for the benefit of the proposed colony. It is earnestly hoped his impressions of West Tennessee will be of such a character as to influence him favorably. Such an acquisition to our population and industry cannot be too highly estimated.

THE great energy displayed by the South during the war is fully equaled by the power and vim she is now manifesting in a time of peace. In the very face of the most terrible surroundings, and with a large portion of her laboring population a source of inconvenience rather than a benefit, she is making her desolate and waste places bloom like a garden of flowers. Such means as are within her grasp are all adapted to her prosperity. The teachings of the war have not been lost nor forgotten. Her latent and hitherto dormant powers have been evoked and pressed into service. The South has secured her independence of reliance upon the North. From her bloody battle-fields the genius of real liberty has risen up, and its influence is being felt throughout her borders. As the South progresses she will gather strength, and ere long her voice in the councils of the nation will be as potential as it was in the purer and better days of the Republic. Our people are fast learning to rely upon themselves. For years the South has been drawing drafts on outside sympathy, which have not been honored. Let us for the future draw upon ourselves—upon our own energies. This can be most successfully done by looking to our farming arrangements for the present year. Now that our farmers are busily planting, we hope they will sow so as to reap the benefit to themselves, and not continue to build up a people who, having grown rich from the proceeds of their labor, would now curse them because they are poor. While our farmers should be the most independent people in the world, they are and always have been the most dependent. This state of affairs must exist while their factors, commission and other merchants supercede them in the control of their crops. They are the capitalists of the country, but by an unwise course subject themselves to the control of others. They should regulate prices in all the departments of business, yet they have no influence there. Let all the cotton raised be clear, then we may expect to become as independent as it is our privilege to be. As long as the South can dig out of the ground annually two hundred and fifty millions of dollars, she is not at the mercy of any one man or set of men. Money and Union are our weapons, offensive and defensive. With these we may defy the Radical legions, and build up on their ruin the fabric of our future greatness. Our strength increases every day. Each dollar that we gain is an addition to our power. Every hour brings us nearer to the dawn of the new day of liberty, prosperity and truth.

NASHVILLE.

Special Train to Meet Ex-President Johnson—He makes a Brief Speech and Has a Fine Reception—Will Address the People To-Day.

NASHVILLE, April 7.—A special train with a Committee of Reception, went to Murfreesboro this morning, to meet the train from Chattanooga on which ex-President Johnson was a passenger, and bring him to Nashville. On the arrival of the train at Nashville, large numbers of people had assembled at the depot, and in response to a call, Mr. Johnson spoke about thirty minutes. He arrived here about 4:30 p.m. on the special train, and was enthusiastically received at the depot by about 5,000 persons who had met there for the purpose. He was escorted through the principal streets by a detachment of police, a brass band and a considerable number of negroes. He rode in an open carriage, and was cheered on all sides. A long line of horsemen and carriages followed him. The procession finally halted at the St. Cloud hotel, where Mr. Johnson made a brief speech, returning thanks for the respect and honor shown him by the people, and announcing that he was in favor of removing the political disabilities from every man disfranchised in Tennessee.

Ex-Governor Neile S. Brown also spoke in response to repeated calls.

All along the route from Knoxville to this place, Mr. Johnson received marks of the confidence of his old friends, having been received at all points of importance by large masses. The Radicals take no part in these demonstrations. Mr. Johnson speaks at the capitol to-morrow.

MEDICAL.

Hope for the Consumptive.

DR. GABBERT devotes his entire time to the treatment of Lung and Throat Diseases, and will refer applicants to a number of patients in and around the city, who are rapidly improving, and to several who have BEEN CURED in the last two months. Do not postpone your case because you feel better as the warm weather comes on. If you are not cured you will be much worse next winter. Your disease continues to progress in summer, but you do not feel it so sensibly. The best physician can do but little in this changeable climate to cure you during the winter. The summer is the time to effect the cure, and you should begin soon that you may be CURED, if possible, before next winter. If you have throat disease of some months standing, it will certainly pass into consumption if not cured.

Dr. Gabbert will show you certificates from those at a distance and refer you personally to patients in the city. For character he refers to J. M. Patrick, G. Falls, John Johnson, F. M. Cash, S. B. Norment, W. B. Greenlaw, M. J. Wicks, General N. B. Forrest, George M. Gill, Memphis; J. M. Howry, Rev. John N. Waddle, Rev. J. J. Wheat, M. J. Cook, Oxford, Mississippi; Rev. G. T. Stainbach, Columbus, Mississippi; Dr. Still, Jackson, Tennessee; Dr. M. A. Simmons, Iuka, Mississippi, and to many others if space would permit.

Patients can be treated at a distance by sending accurate description of the case.

Dr. Gabbert uses the remedies discovered by Dr. Tichener, of Canton, Mississippi.

LOGWOOD—WEAKLEY—On Tuesday, the 6th of April, 1869, at the Episcop l Church, in Florence, Alabama, by the Rev. George White, of Calvary Church, Memphis, Tenn., Colonel Thomas H. Logwood, of Memphis, Tenn., to Miss Kate E., daughter of General Samuel D. Weakley, of Florence, Alabama. No cards.

ALLEN—McANALLY—On Tuesday, April 6, at three o'clock, p.m., at the residence of the bride's mother, on Shelby street, by Rev. B. F. Brooke, of Grace Church, Thomas B. Allen, Esq., to Miss Pattie A. McAnally—all of this city.

We had the pleasure of witnessing the Episcopal ceremony which, by the beauty of God's law, relieved our friend of the lingering bachelorhood, that "doubles the cares we strive to hide," and gave into his sacred keeping "heaven's best gift to man"—a noble and loving wife.

Farewell to the genial companion. In giving him over to the brotherhood of happy Benedicts, we ask his kindest remembrance for those of us who still flutter in the glitter of single-blessedness, and in return wish him every joy in life, and may the noble Pattie, the peerless gift of heaven, be the "kind solace" on the bright love-path, to charm life's fears away and keep his heart forever young.

The bridegroom and bride left for New Orleans immediately after the ceremonies.

LOVE AND MURDER.

A Lady Killed by Her Lover—A Double Fatal Duel.

The steamer Richmond, which passed up from New Orleans yesterday, learned at Grand Gulf the particulars of one of those tragedies of passion that appear more like romance than reality. In the country at some distance from Grand Gulf reside two respectable families, those of Cushing and Andrews. Miss Andrews was a lovely girl of seventeen, well accomplished and of unusually facinating manners. Mr. Cushing's son, a youth of twenty, had been attached to her from their early childhood, and as he grew older his affection became an ardent, absorbing passion. A short time ago he made a formal offer of his hand, when, to his intense disappointment and mortification, his offer was firmly though courteously refused. He brooded over his ill-rewarded passion, and became a prey to jealousy, and at length left the neighborhood, vowing madly that he would come back and take his revenge. On Sunday last he returned, and, riding up to Mr. Andrews' house, he begged to see Miss Andrews at the door, without alighting. She came out, when he suddenly produced a pistol, fired, shooting her through the body, and she fell on her face, and died without a struggle. The infatuated murderer rode frantically away, but Miss Andrews' brother, breathing fury towards the murderer of his sister, sprang on a horse and followed. He came up with Cushing as the latter was crossing a creek, and fired at him. Cushing jumped from his horse and took shelter in the bush. Andrews, not to be at a disadvantage, did the same. A parley ensued, and the two young men agreed to fight according to the code; to leave the cover, fire, advance and fire, and again advance, firing until one of them should fall. At the first fire Cushing received a mortal wound in the left shoulder, but the men continued to near each other and fire, until their revolvers were empty. When assistance arrived, Cushing lay dead with four bullets in his body. Andrews had received three shots in his breast. He was able to tell how the fight had taken place, when he also expired.

OVERTON HOTEL, April 7th, 1869.

Pursuant to a call of M. D. L. Stewart, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements appointed by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen to make preparations for the proper reception of ex-President Johnson, met in the parlor of the Overton Hotel at five o'clock p.m.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, M. D. L. Stewart.

On motion of A. Hitzfeld, C. B. Galloway was nominated and elected Secretary.

On motion of A. Hitzfeld, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That whereas Messrs. Galloway & Royal, and Messrs. Cockrell & Jones in behalf of the respective houses, the Worsham House and Peabody Hotel, did offer the hospitalities of said houses for the gratuitous entertainment of ex-President Johnson. We hereby tender the said gentlemen our most sincere thanks, and that in as much as the Overton Hotel was heretofore accepted by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen for the entertainment of our distinguished statesman, the Committee hereby accept and ratify the action of the Board as their wishes in that particular.

On motion of A. Hitzfeld, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to confer with all the music bands of the city to engage the services on the occasion of welcoming the ex-President on his arrival in this city.

The Chair appointed the following committee:

A. Hitzfeld, R. A. Thompson, Phil. Mallon, M. J. Wright, Jno. Ainslie.

On motion of A. Levy, the following Committee were appointed on Hacks and Hall:

Committee on Hacks—E. A. Levy, J. D. Danbury, L. Harmstad, S. P. Robbins, C. B. Galloway.

Committee on Hall—J. H. Cash, C. B. Church, H. Loewnstein, S. P. Walker, C. D. McLean.

On motion of A. Hitzfeld, the meeting adjourned to meet at same place to-morrow evening at five o'clock.

"DRAT THE DOGS."—Such was the solemn adjuration of one of those portraitures of character penned with immutable truth by the genius of Dickens. "Drat the dogs;" counfound them; we wish we had the anathematizing powers cited by Sterne's Dr. Slop, to confound them. If the approaching Ecumenical Council would order them to be banned with bell, book and candle, and confound them standing, sitting, lying, sleeping, barking, yelping, snapping and biting, we would vote any ticket it might nominate. Since our paragraph on the dog question appeared yesterday, we have been assured by "many citizens" that they are with us. The fathers of families are with us; the mothers of boys that will pat every dog's head they can catch within reach are with us; every "nice young man" that has a heart carried about by a mortal angel with a spring bonnet on is with us; every man that has got a leg with flesh enough on it for a dog to breakfast on is with us, and joins in our war slogan—down with the dogs! If there was a municipal election next week, our cry of "down with the dogs" would gain us the high position of Mayor of Memphis, if our retiring modesty would permit us to allow our names to be put in nomination by a grateful and applauding public. The dogs have thriven and multiplied until they have become a dangerous, social and domestic enemy, and we earnestly—backed by the approving voices of our fellow citizens, in general—evoke the dog-killer, the tax-gatherer, and the muzzle, to thin out, abate, and gag those unendurable pests, the dogs. "Down with the dogs!"

THE LITTLE ROCK RAILROAD.—We learn with no small satisfaction that there is every prospect for an early and entire completion of the Little Rock Railroad, giving speedy and permanent transit between that city and Memphis. The company has entered into a contract with Messrs. Carlyle & Henderson, a firm whose name is a guarantee for the punctual fulfillment of its engagements for the construction of the bridge over White river at Duvall's Bluff. This is the most important part of the work which remained to be provided for, and its completion will make the remainder of the business plain sailing. Carlyle & Henderson are already at work on the preliminaries. They are purchasing in this city the boats necessary for conveying stone to Duvall's Bluff. They are preparing to commence operations vigorously, so that as soon as the tracklayers between the St. Francis and the White rivers reach that point, the bridge will be ready to receive the iron of the track. It is to be completed by October next. The work on the road beyond Madison is going on rapidly. The grading from Madison to Forrest City, five miles, is done; the cross-ties are nearly all out, and very soon the iron will be down between these two points; it is now going up there from the depot at Hopefield.

AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT.—Dr. Gabbert, whose advertisement appears in our columns to-day, is an old and successful practitioner of Memphis, well and favorably known to most of our old citizens. He returned to his old home two months ago, and will devote his time to the treatment of throat and lung diseases upon a new system. We have heretofore said nothing of this treatment, but the Doctor has now been here long enough to demonstrate its superiority and prove its success; and will, as he says, refer applicants to patients in the city who can be found without trouble who are improving, and to several others who are already cured. Parties who have despaired of cure would do well to try this new treatment. We especially refer to the subject just now for the favorable season of the year for the persons concerned is commencing, and advantage should be taken of powers recuperated by spring breezes and the soft influences of summer, to put the system on a sound and safe basis.

MURDER OF A CHARLESTON RAILROAD CONDUCTOR.

A Dispute and its Consequences—Base Assassination.

At Courtland, Ala., one hundred and sixty miles from this city on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, there is a hotel where the persons employed on that road frequently take meals as they pass on the trains. Some days ago the keeper of the hotel, Mr. Parshall, demanded of the conductor of one of the trains—Thomas J. Oates, who is from North Carolina—payment for meals had by a brakesman on his train, for which he considered Mr. Oates responsible. A dispute followed which became an angry one, and harsh words and blows passed. Parshall ordered Oates never to enter his house again, but Oates replied that it was a public place, and he had a right to get his meals there if he conducted himself peaceably and paid for what he had. On Tuesday evening Oates' train left this city on the up trip, and on reaching Courtland yesterday morning Mr. Oates went into Parshall's hotel to get his breakfast. Parshall was angry at this inattention to his wishes, and another altercation took place, at which violent language was used, and Parshall at length pulled out a pistol and fired at Oates. The latter then took out his pistol and returned the fire; neither of the two shots took effect, but the bullet from Oates' pistol passed through Parshall's hat. Parshall then ran up stairs and Oates left the house to go to his train, when Parshall, who had posted himself at the window above with a double-barrelled shot-gun, fired at him as he passed. The aim was only too correct, and seven buckshot were lodged in the unfortunate man's left breast, and his death was almost instantaneous. Oates leaves a wife and child behind him, who are residing at Huntsville, Ala. Whether Parshall escaped or was arrested, the people on the train did not ascertain.

Tipton County and the President of the Mississippi River Railroad.

From Covington, Tipton county, Tenn., we received the resolutions published below, expressive of the views of the citizens of that vicinity in regard to the character of Colonel A. S. Mitchell, President of the Mississippi River Railroad, so fiercely traduced by interested parties. The presence of such names as those of the Rev. James Holmes, President of the Covington Female Academy, Judge Byers, of the Tipton High School, Rev. D. H. Cummins, and Hon. H. R. Bate, are guarantee for the value of the testimony rendered to Mr. Mitchell's personal character:

WHEREAS, Having witnessed with pain an effort to injure our friend, Mr. A. S. Mitchell, President of the Mississippi River Railroad, with the public by unjust implications upon his social and political conduct, particularly during the late war, we, a portion of the citizens of Tipton county, where Mr. Mitchell was born and raised, having known him from boyhood, deem it just and due to him to make this expression of our knowledge of his character and his conduct in all relations, especially during the late war, and in connection with his office as President of the Mississippi River Railroad, which he now fills with unsurpassed skill and ability:

1. That he is distinguished for devotion to his parents, fidelity to his friends, and faithful and unselfish efforts to be useful to the people among whom he was raised.

2. We bear willing testimony to the fact, what the whole county of Tipton knows, that during the later years of the war, Mr. Mitchell, through his influence with the Union military commandants at Memphis, procured the general order forbidding the entrance of foraging or raiding parties into Tipton county, and thereafter none came, and the citizens were thereby saved tens of thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, of dollars worth of property, and delivered from many of the worst horrors of a state of war; and that Mr. Mitchell was actuated in this cause by a sincere sympathy for his distressed countrymen of the South, is sufficiently attested by the fact that he never asked or received any compensation whatever for his services in this behalf, though the people of the county could well have paid thousands of dollars for the protection they obtained through him.

3. We further bear testimony that Mr. Mitchell, during the war, made repeated trips to Washington City to obtain the release of sick and wounded Confederate soldiers of Tipton county from Northern prisons, always with success, and that he never charged a dollar for his services on such occasions, and only in a few cases had his personal expenses in making these trips partially paid.

4. Mr. Mitchell in the management of the affairs of the Mississippi River Railroad, has always had, and still enjoys, the entire confidence and approbation of the friends of the enterprise in Tipton county. They know of his patience, labor, and faith, in the ultimate success which has kept the work alive under the most discouraging circumstances of the past. They believe he has done more to endow the road and build it up to its present strength than any other man in Tennessee could have done, and that he is, above all others, the one entitled to the support of all true friends of Memphis, and of the counties, seeking by their own means to be united to Memphis by railroad connections.

5. While the citizens of Tipton county always have been, and ever expect to be, faithful to the doctrines and organization of the great Democratic party of the nation, and while they differ widely at the polls from Mr. Mitchell, in politics, they owe it to him as a man, and as a citizen, to bear testimony of his uprightness of private character, and to his deserts as a neighbor, friend, and public benefactor in whatever way he has had the power to serve this people.

THE BRICKLAYER'S UNION.—Our mechanics, resolved to be behind none in those arrangements which promote harmony, incite to benevolence and improve trade, are forming Unions in their respective branches. The bricklayers are prominent in their work, and that branch held a meeting last night in one of the parlors of the Overton, for the furtherance of the Union's interests. The members present desire, individually and collectively, to express their warm thanks to the genial, corteous and popular host of the Overton, for the hospitality and kindness with which he last night furnished rooms for the use of the meeting. To Captain Ed. Marshall also, the assembled members desire to express the obligations they feel for the valuable services he has rendered in aid of the organization.

SUICIDE.—As Mr. Parker was passing along the bluff at the foot of Huling street on Monday, shortly before noon, he saw a man walking hurriedly towards the brink, whose manner caused him to address him with the remark: "You cannot get to the river here; there is no road down to it." The man continued to step on and hastily replying, "yes I can, though," he sprung from the top of the bluff and disappeared beneath the muddy waters. The body has not been recovered, and who the man was is utterly unknown.

THE DICKENS TRAGEDY.

The Argument for the Prosecution and Defense Yesterday.

The Case to be Concluded To-Day.

The investigation into this double murder, at the house of Mr. Thomas Dickens, near Big Creek, on the 19th of February, and in which E. C. Patterson is accused of being an accessory before the fact, was resumed before Justices Hill and Griffith, in the Circuit Court-room, yesterday, which was again crowded with spectators, all apparently anxious to hear the argument in this very important case.

ARGUMENT OF GENERAL JOHN F. SALE.

General John F. Sale resumed the argument on the part of the prosecution, and after a few general remarks on the importance of the case and the patient and lengthened investigation given to it by the justices, he proceeded to refer to the evidence of Mr. Mitchell in regard to the saddle-bags in Mr. E. M. Apperson's office and to their apparent weight when lifted up by the defendant, Patterson. He criticised the evidence of Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Bolton and Mr. Apperson as to what took place in the office, and then went on to remark that the prosecution had fully proved the intimacy which had existed previous to the assassination between Inman and Morgan and Patterson. They had proved, he said, that Patterson had become responsible for their board, and that he had endeavored to redeem a pistol which had been placed in pawn by them for their board. The defense had not attempted to deny these facts, but had depended entirely on cross-examination to endeavor to refute the statements. Then, again, he asked, had it not been proved that they got money for the assassination, and it was to be inferred that they got it from Patterson. It had also been brought out in testimony that Inman was to go to Patterson's neighborhood to begin farming, but he had never been heard of since the day of the homicide. This, with the fact that Inman had been at a party at Patterson's house, all showed the connection that existed between Patterson and these men. He next referred to the part which, he said, the Curlins had played in the case, and asked why neither of them had been placed on the witness stand for the defense, for the purpose of disproving the evidence given by the colored man, George Washington. He characterized the attempt to impeach the evidence of this witness, by calling in Messrs. Winters, Marre and Morrison, as contemptible, and said that so far as they had proved that Washington had acted as a straw bondsman, that in his opinion it did not amount to anything, as no bail bond had been collected in Memphis in the last ten years, as everybody was broke and it would have been well for the citizens to have taken the benefit of the bankrupt law as a whole. [Laughter] He scouted the evidence of Newton as the alleged occurrence in Curlin's meat store, and then said that there was a reasonable belief that Thompson was a co-conspirator in the case with Patterson. Referring to the testimony given by Patterson's neighbors, he contended that it was not necessary to prove that he was a reckless man to engage in a conspiracy of the kind, as a man naturally quiet or even a coward might become identified with a conspiracy, and therefore he thought he had disposed of the evidence relative to character.

General Sale concluded a powerful and effective argument, by stating that he had no hesitation that a conviction could be secured before a jury from the evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution.

ARGUMENT OF MR. GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Mr. George Washington opened the argument on behalf of the defense. He commenced by referring to the arguments put forth by General Sale on behalf of the prosecution, and said the other side had completely failed to show complicity on the part of Patterson with Inman and Morgan. He then went on to criticize the evidence given on behalf of the prosecution, but while doing so he became suddenly indisposed and was compelled to close his argument, owing to sickness.

ARGUMENT OF GENERAL WALLACE.

General Wallace resumed the argument for the defense by referring to the length of time which had been taken up in the investigation and the patience which had been displayed by the Magistrates in investigating the case. He said the prosecution had taken nearly two solid weeks to get in all their evidence, while the defense had not taken over two hours for that purpose. A great deal of evidence which he characterized as rubbish, had been brought into the case, and his first work would be to clear away this rubbish. He then went on to remark that the first thing to be proved was that Green Wilson and Nancy Dickens had lost their lives by assassins; and he agreed with the defense that this fact had been proved. The next question, then, to consider was, who committed the deed, and whether the defendent did it or if it could be proved that he entered into a conspiracy to have these parties killed, then he was just as guilty as if he had fired the fatal shot or drawn the blood reeking dagger from the breast of the slain; he pointed out what constituted a conspiracy, and what was required to be proved in such a case, and said that Mr. Hallum would read the law on the subject. He contended that the defense had failed to prove that Patterson was an accessory to the murder, and then proceeded to give a brief review of the several matters that had been adduced as to acquaintance of Patterson with Morgan and Inman, and asked if it was any proof that he had entered into a conspiracy with them to kill a man because he had been seen two or three times in their presence, had become responsible for their board a couple of weeks, saying they expected to receive money by express, and inviting one of them to a social party at his house, where there were many other persons. He wanted to know how it was possible for the prosecution to torture these acts into a conspiracy to perpetrate a bloody tragedy. He argued strongly that the evidence was not sufficient to commit the defendent for trial, and said that many of the witnesses for the prosecution had come before the Court reeking with perjury. Proceeding to allude to the evidence of the colored man George Washington, and the fact that he had been a straw bondsman in the Criminal Court, he said that he had managed by his perjury in that case to get Colonel Gallaway, of the AVALANCHE, into trouble, and completely humiliating Judge Hunter, as his action, perjury and false security, had given rise to the celebrated contempt case. He then adverted to the excellent character given to Patterson for peace and quietude by his neighbors, some of whom had been in the Confederate army, while he (Patterson) had been an officer in the Federal army. These neighbors had at first been suspicious of him when he came among them, but after closely scrutinizing his actions they have come into court and testified to the excellence of his character. He referred, in complimentary terms, to the case as reported in the AVALANCHE, and then argued that the prosecution had been simply got up to destroy Patterson. He passed on to speak of the remarks made by Mr. Chambers, on the previous day, in trying to make Wade Bolton out a dangerous character by referring to the color of his eyes and the appearance of his eye-brows. He (General Wallace) supposed that Mr. Chambers in his remarks had been of the opinion that he had given Mr Bolton "fits," but this was a mistake that young lawyers like Mr. Chambers were liable to fall into. He then gave Mr. Chambers what he called a little "scrubbing" for the manner in which he acted, and then proceeded to examine the evidence of Humphreys and the colored man, Washington, in a clear, lucid manner at some length, declaring that both were unworthy of belief. He closed a well arranged argument by saying that Morgan and Inman, if they killed Wilson, had done so in a spirit of revenge for some acts he had done in another part of the country. He considered this explanation necessary in view of the manner in which the case was being engineered by the prosecution.

ARGUMENT OF MR. JOHN HALLUM.

Mr. Hallum then rose to close the argument on behalf of the defense, and having intimated that he would be unable to condense his remarks into the space of a single hour, it was agreed that he should be allowed the remainder of the afternoon session to do so. He then went on to remark that there were certain cardinal and well established rules relative to circumstantial evidence, which he intended to quote from Wills, a most eminent and able author on that subject. He quoted from rules 4 and 5 of Wills; Burrel, page 737, and a decision of the Supreme Court to show what circumstances the prosecution had to make and prove in order to sustain their case. He contended that the circumstances in the case were of an isolated character and bore no connection with each other. In was easy to explain in what manner the defendant, Patterson, had become acquainted. Captain Patterson had been an officer in the Federal army during the late war, and while on service had become acquainted with Inman. During the war, as General Wallace had remarked, people had met with strange companions. Patterson had settled in the South after the surrender, and when he again met his fellow-soldier poor and indigent and tendered him hospitality and assistance, did that, he asked, militate against Patterson? Certainly not; because it was alike creditable to his head and heart to do so. He did all this from the best of motives, and in helping Inman he had also to help Morgan, who was in his company. Even the President of the United States might have became acquainted with scoundrels while in the army, but would they hold him responsible for any of the acts these scoundrels might afterwards commit? Certainly not; and yet in this case it was from trifles like the hospitality at Patterson's to his old fellow-soldier Inman, that the prosecution were endeavoring to secure a conviction for conspiracy against him. Colonel Gantt had quoted from Othello, the other day, and he could also quote from the same work that trifles light as air in the minds of jealous persons become confirmation strong as proofs of holy writ. He contended that Patterson would not have been a true soldier if he had not acted in the manner which he did to his old comrade. Mr. Hallum then went on to carefully examine all the circumstances connected with the interviews between Patterson, and Inman and Morgan, and after referring to his becoming responsible for their board and going with them to redeem the pistol, he wished to know if there was anything inculpatory in those transactions, as what was more natural when any one is in a difficulty than to go to their friends for assistance, and that was the case of Inman and Morgan, in relation to Patterson. He next reviewd the evidence of Mr. Mitchell relative to what took place regarding the saddle-bags, and remarked that while he did not wish to injure the testimony of that gentlemen, he would merely say, that in his opinion, he was merely mistaken in testifying to about what he believed he saw on that occasion, but for the sake of argument, even if it was admitted that the saddle-bags were taken away at the time by Patterson, it had to be proved that they contained deadly weapons, and also that Patterson had delivered them to his associates, as had been alleged. That was where there was a fatal break in the case. Patterson therefore stood guiltless till this could be proved so as to inculpate him in the conspiracy. Mr. Hallum dilated on this point at considerable length, in order to show how the prosecution had failed to connect Patterson with the conspiracy, and he said he boldly challenged the counsel for the defense to show by what rule of law they expected a conviction after they had so signally failed at this important point. In regard to the shooting in the Chancery Court, he contended that Patterson had only acted in the manner in which any chivalrous man in the community would have done in like circumstances. He had there been assailed by Samuel Dickens, and had only acted in self defense. If he had skulked and sought the protection of the court under the circumstances, he (Mr. Hallum) had no hesitation in saying that the action would have been scouted by every chivalrous man in the South. Mr. Hallum then proceeded to examine the evidence given by the immaculate Humphreys, as he called him, and referred to the testimony given before the Coroner at the inquest; his statements outside to various parties, and then his testimouy given before the court. He had, he said, no hesitation in declaring him a perjured scoundrel, who had been saborned by the Dickens family, and Samuel Dickens in particular, in order to destroy the defendant, Patterson. He next adverted to the testimony of the negro, Thomas Brown, who, he said, could not tell how many weeks were in a month, and who had told them there were only six months in a year, but who was able to tell them all about an interview between Patterson and Wilson, and in answer to all the questions was sure to reply October, October, October. He also had been taught his lesson and had perjured himself and been suborned. He said he would now refer to what the colored man Washington—a man steeped in crime—had said, and then went on in skathing terms to dissect sentence by sentence, of that witnesses' evidence, winding up by declaring that he also was a suborned and perjured scoundrel. Mr. Hallum then read several cases on the subject of circumstantial evidence from Wills' reports in order to show how cautious courts ought to be in receiving such testimony, commenting on each case as he went along, and closing his powerful argument by referring to the excellent character given to Patterson by the chivalrous men of Shelby county, who had closely scrutinized his conduct for three or four years, passing, as he had done, through an ordeal of fire. He declared that no impartial man but would be ready to declare, after hearing or reading the evidence, to acknowledge the innocence of the charge brought against him. After thanking the Court for the patient hearing given him, he closed his argument, which had occupied over two hours, by saying he had not the slightest hesitation in leaving the case in the hands of the Court.

The Court then adjourned till nine o'clock this morning, when Colonel Gantt will close the argument on the part of the prosecution.

The Courts.

CRIMINAL COURT—William Hunter, Judge. This court convened yesterday, and immediately proceeded with the trial of the Cosgrove case.

Thomas Winters, witness for the defense was placed upon the stand and asked the following questions:

Were you in the court-house at the time Malone was shot? Question objected to on the ground that the evidence elicited on the part of the State, established prima facie, the existence of a confederacy or a conspiracy on the part of the witness with the defendant and others to murder Malone, the question of the incompetency of the witness was argued by Sale and Horrigan for the State, and Bullock and Coleman for the defendant, until about three o'clock p.m., when the court overruled the objection. Answer—was in the court-house when Malone was shot, went there as one of the guards of the prisoners on trial; when the difficulty commenced witness went over to Bullock and told him to go on; Malone was then sitting on a chair; when witness approached Malone (he, Malone,) put his hand in his pocket; witness then drew his revolver; Malone then crossed the table; saw no more of Malone until after he was shot; heard the report of the pistol; saw Cosgrove at the court-house at the time of the difficulty; he was standing between the Judge's stand and the table when the shot was fired; did not see Malone at the time the shot was fired; heard no one say anything except Malone, who said "I am shot;" saw Pat. Dolan at the court-house at the time Malone was shot; saw his wrist was burnt and that powder was on his wrist.

Question—Did Dolan tell you how his wrist was injured?

Question objected to. After argument the objection was overruled.

Answer—Dolan told me about half an hour after the shooting, that he held his hand over the pistol and shot Malone; do not know where Dolan is; have not seen him since last August.

Cross-examined—Remained guard at the jail about a month after the murder of Malone; Dolan also remained a guard at the jail; Dolan and witness were friends; each guarded Cosgrove while he was in jail for the murder of Malone; did not mention what Dolan told me in regard to the shooting of Malone to any one until after Cosgrove had been tried and convicted for the murder of Malone, and applied for a new trial; was asked on the trial of Cosgrove at former term of the court, and also on an examinatian for bail, if witness knew who killed Malone, and each time answered that witness did not know who did the act; did not tell any of the law officers what Dolan had told witness; saw Dolan's hand while he was at the house of witness. Here the court adjourned.

It is expected that the testimony will be closed early to-day. The argument of counsel will then commence.

This is an action instituted by the plaintiff to recover damages of the defendant's firm for the alleged conversion of a large amount of cotton during the war. The proof consists solely of deposition taken in the cause both by the plaintiff and defendants, the reading of which occupied the court all day.

SHOOTING AFFAIR AT VAIDEN, MISS.—From a correspondent we learn that at Vaiden, Miss., at half past eleven o'clock on Saturday night last, Mr. James Dooms was fatally shot by his friend, Henry Ringer. These gentlemen, in company with two others, had a sharp dispute, accompanied with violence, with a man named Tom Allen, a resident of the neighborhood. This man was intoxicated, and left them with threats of revenge. At the hour above indicated, three of the four companions were sitting under a tree, when the fourth, Mr. Dooms, who had been absent, approached. Ringer, who had fallen into a dose, was awakened by the sound of his arrival, and starting up—under the impression that Allen was returning to accomplish his threats—he called out: "Who is that?" and fired his pistol. The ball entering Dooms' breast and passed out at the back, grazing the spine, and the physicians pronounce the wound to be fatal. The agony of Mr. Ringer at the unfortunate result of his hasty and unpremeditated act, is described as exceruciating in the extreme.

Personal—A Reply.

Our attention has been called to an article marked "Personal" as an advertisement in the "Memphis AVALANCHE," in which our name has been pretty freely used by a person who seems to believe he is himself, which may be the case if he is not beside himself, to all of which we have no objection, and hope he will long remain in a state of perfect preservation, all except his temper.

This said gentleman attempts to claim sole proprietorship of Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator or medicine for liver diseases, and wants to make out himself of sufficient importance for any one to copy after or imitate, and in a very illiterate manner uses the hackneyed phrase in medical advertisements of counterfeiter. The assurance of this person is certainly only excelled by his ignorance and impudence. Had we any desire to copy after or imitate we should certainly select a more creditable example to follow in the wake of, or something that would reflect to our benefit. Our ambition would lead us to emulate men of high degree, and men never stoop to the level of one who shows more the disposition of a backbiter, than a medical man or gentleman.

The article of which we are sole proprietors is old Dr. A. Q. Simmons' liver medicine, known in the world; manufactured for over thirty-five years by a gentleman that was well known throughout the majority of the Southern States as the manufacturer of liver medicines; a man who made the article a "household word" in the States of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas and Mississippi, etc., who manufactured it as a blessing to the sick before the man that presumes this attack, judging from his intelligence, was born. An article known to the oldest inhabitants, whose homes he visited in his old sulky, before the day of railroads, and distributed his medicine and extended his fame far and wide. Dying at a very advanced age, he bequeathed, sometime before his death, the receipt to his son, C. A. Simmons, and the authority to make it. And to confirm that authority wrote the following:

THE BEST LIVER REGULATOR

Know all men by these presents, That I have authorized my son, C. A. Simmons, to print or have printed, anything that he may see proper concerning any and all my medicines. This 17th day of October, 1856.

Of the certificates in hand we might select over a hundred that speak of positive cures, and did we think it worth while we could furnish such numbers of certificates that we fear the few brains the attacking party seems to possess would ache with overtaxing.

Messrs. Zeilin & Co.:

I have for many years been opposed to the use of calomel, having suffered severely in my family from its bad effects, and being acquainted with Simmons' Liver Regulator or medicine since 1839, I have recommended it and seen it used in hundreds of cases, and can confidently assert that it has always exceeded my expectations, curing cases that I thought hopeless. I have seen men raised almost from a dying bed by its effects. My attention has been so often called to the wonderful cures effected by it that I feel it almost a duty I owe to suffering humanity to let them know what will relieve them.
GRENVILLE WOOD,
Wood's Factory, Macon, Ga.

ANOTHER.

KINGSTON, GA., January, 1867.

Dr. C. A. Simmons;

DEAR SIR—For the good of the suffering, I have concluded to write you a statement of facts, that you may, if you wish, have them published. For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from a disordered state of the liver, during which time I tried many of the best physicians in the country, almost all the patent nostrums recommended for my complaint, and all to no effect, until I was advised by the attending physician, C. N. Mason, M. D., to procure and use Dr. Simmons' Liver Medicine, which I did, and from the time I used one package to this day, which is now several years, I have been comparatively a sound man, having suffered very little since at any time from the effects of my old disease. Consequently, I heartily recommend its use to the afflicted with liver disease.
MAJ. A. F. WOOLEY.

And another:

MACON, GA., September 23, 1867.

Dr. C. A. Simmons, Barnesville, Georgia:

DEAR SIR—Your advertisement has been changed, as requested. Advertising will not sell worthless medicines long, as many persons doubtless have discovered, but a medicine which recommends itself on trial, as yours appears to do, only requires to be kept before the people in the regular way, to accomplish your purpose.
Yours truly,
W. A. REID & Co.,
Proprietors Telegraph.

The person attacking us supposes, in his small imagination, that the remarks made in our circular had reference to himself. We can pledge our word that we never heard of him until after our circular had marks in reference to establishing ourselves as sole proprietors was induced by the efforts of many to give the impression that they also had the receipt, from the fact that the old Doctor often purchased his ingredients at the drug stores on his route. We had no idea a party would spring up pretending to be the great Mogul, and setting up his preparation as the original.

We presume he has so long been a pretender that he tries to persuade himself that he is the genuine Simmons, and now wants to bark and snap at the substance of which he must be only the shadow. We regret the necessity that compels us to use our pen in this unpleasant duty, which is merely to correct any misrepresentation that might be placed upon our silence—as to our character for integrity, business qualifications and honor, we need hardly a defense. Our past record is before the world as a challenge to those who wish to investigate it. For rather than do any one a wrong or injury, we would restore four fold. We have been too long in the drug trade and are, we hope, too favorably known to the best houses in America, such as Powers & Weightman, John F. Henry, John D. Park, J. M. Mavis & Co., for a traducer to injure us by violent and unjust charges. Simmons' Liver Medicine or Regulator for dispepsia, jaundice, costiveness, sick and nervous headache, etc., we shall continue to manufacture, and hope the public will continue to appreciate it. Our efforts shall be to relieve the sick and suffering, and we are satisfied that only a trial is necessary to convince all of its virtues and superiority over any other.

Leaving the subject in the hands of an unprejudiced and discriminating public.

We remain, very respectfully,
J. H. ZEILIN & Co.,
Druggists, Macon, Ga.

Sole proprietors of Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator. d5aw2

Papers publishing the attacks upon us will please copy three times, and send bill to Macon, Georgia, Telegraph.

IN PORT.

W. A. Caldwell, Natoma, Minneola, Ben. Campbell.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Richmond passed up for Louisville yesterday morning with a fair up stream trip.

The Leonidas, for New Orleans, did not get away until yesterday at noon, having been detained in patching her boilers.

The Mississippi passed up at daylight for St. Louis.

The splendid passenger steamer W. A. Caldwell, Captain Rube Haines is the regular Thursday Arkansas river United States mail packet, leaving to-day at five p.m. for all points on the Arkansas through to Fort Smith. Messrs. Jack Chambers, E. W. Outlaw and Bob Shields, a trio of clever gentlemen and accommodating clerks, have charge of the office.

The Lady Winthaup arrived yesterday from Forked Deer river with a cargo of tobacco, cotton, etc.

The Natoma, Captain William Ashford, arrived from White river last night with 171 bales of cotton and a good passenger list. She is the regular Thursday White river packet, leaving to-day at five p.m. for all points on White river, connecting at Duvall's Bluff with the Little Rock Railroad, and at Jacksonport with the Argos for Batesville and Powhattan. Messrs. John Darby and John Smither, two agreeable gentlemen, have charge of the office.

The Great Republic arrived last night from St. Louis, bound for New Orleans. She fills out here with several hundred bales of cotton and two hundred tons of oil cake, and was to have got off during the night.

The Sam. J. Hale, for Cincinnati, left with a light trip.

The rates of freight on cotton being in favor at present for the Southern route, cotton shipments for the East by the Ohio are scarce, the most of it being shipped to New York via New Orleans.

The Belle Lee, and Marble City are due from New Orleans.

The R. E. Lee, Legal Tender and Groesbeck are due from the Ohio river.

The advent of the famous R. E. Lee above the falls created quite a sensation.

The Legal Tender will arrive to-morrow morning from Cincinnati and leave at five p.m. for White river. During her stay at Cincinnati she received a new outfit, including cabin furniture, bedding, chandeliers, etc. The Cincinnati Gazette says she presents a beautiful appearance in her new dress. Captain John Elliott, formerly of the Des Arc, in command, with the prince of good fellows, Billy Miller, in charge of the office.

The magnificent passenger steamer Belle Lee, Captain McGill, with Adolph Martin and Ed. Broughton in the office, will ply in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade as an independent packet.

The Cairo and Evansville packets are having a heavy contest in fighting opposition. Competition waxeth warm. The fare between the two points has been reduced to fifty cents.

The Minneola, Captain Miller, arrived yesterday from Cincinnati with a fair trip, and leaves on Saturday for Cincinnati.

Captain Tom. Berry will in all probability take the Leni Leoti to the mountains.

Captain John Smooker will build a new steamer at Louisville this summer.

The George W. Cheek, Captain James Lee, is the regular Friday Friar's Point packet.

The G. A. Thompson backed out for Arkansas river last night. She laid here until day, but added very little, shippers preferring to ship on the regular packets.

The Liberty No. 2 is the regular Saturday White river mail packet.

The Belle St. Louis, Captain Zeigler, is the regular Thursday St. Louis packet, leaving to-day at 5 p.m. Mr. Basket, an affable gentleman, does the honors of the office.

The Little Rock Railroad Company are trying to negotiate for the purchase of th Dan Able, to run between this point and Duvall's Bluff in connection with the road. Her time expires on the 16th in the Bayou Sara trade.

The Ohio is declining rapidly, and unless the Upper Mississippi should rise very suddenly we need have no fears of an overflow.

The Ben Campbell, Captain Miller, with Captain Hall in the office, sails to-day at five p.m. for Osceola and the bends.

The superb passenger steamer City of Alton, Captain J. B. Archer, will leave the wharf to-day at five p.m. for Vicksburg and the bends. Mr. White is her gentlemanly purser.

The W. R. Arthur is due from St. Louis, bound for New Orleans

We will at another time refer to the following communication in relation to pilots:

With deep regret we are compelled to chronicle the death of Captain Wm. T. Wood. Mr. Wood has been suffering for the past year with a disease contracted on the river by arduous duties, and was relieved of his sufferings on this earth last evening. He leaves behind him many friends, who join with his bereaved family in mourning his loss. Capt. Woods has been on the river for the past twenty-five years, and during this time he has served in the capacity of clerk or captain of some of the finest boats on the river. He was of amiable disposition, and loved and respected by all who knew him. His many friends in river circles are invited to attend his funeral to-day, which takes place at 3 p.m., from his residence, No. 12 Linden street. The boats in port will display their colors at half mast in respect of the memory of so old and respected boatman.

[Communicated.]

MEMPHIS, April 6, 1869.

FRIEND DURFF—As you have always with your valuable paper fostered and endeavored to protect the interests of steamboatmen, a number of pilots who have served faithfully in that capacity in the Southern waters for many years, once more appeal to you, to make known our grievances, by requesting you to stir up Inspector Guthrie for the neglect of enforcing certain measures of the Marine law. An instance of where the law was abused by the captain of the Argonaut came under our notice last week. We have appealed to the inspectors here time and again in days gone by; but as a settler, an appeal was taken to Louisville by Inspector Guthrie, and that would be the last in any case. We are informed that two pilots are necessary as the complement required by law for each steamboat. This law is being disregarded almost every day. We pay a govermental tax yearly for protection in our license, yet some of the favored few heretofore could with impunity transgress the law. As it is now, we have an energetic Board of Inspectors who assures us wants but the support of the powers that be (for they have our support most heartily), and they promise us an impartial administration of the steamboat law. Hoping, as we know you will, that you will properly ventilate this matter, where so many steamboatmen are interested, we rest the matter with you, and sign

ROBERT C. GIST Postmaster.

Financial and Commercial.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE, WEDNESDAY EVENING, April 7, 1869.

The general aspect of mercantile affairs remains about as described yesterday, and the situation presents hardly a new or interesting feature. Outside of a few light purchases by country merchants, there was very little movement. Merchants have full stocks of goods on hand, and as customers must be scarce until some headway is made in planting, or cotton moves to an extent that will give money matters an easier tone, they are slow to take hold of consignments of merchandise, no matter how tempting the terms, and, as a consequence, commission merchants experience a great deal of difficulty in effecting sales though offering at considerably less than the regular jobbing prices. Even dry goods men complain of the general distemper, notwithstanding their goods are offered at New York quotations. Retailers of dry goods also experience comparatively a dull trade, the absence of country buyers making quite a difference in that line of business, as well as limited circulation of money among the masses in the city. In the money market there was very little going on either among bankers or brokers and such things as scrip, gold, stocks and securities had only a nominal value, while but one bank reported any considerable amount of exchange. One or two banks would take good sight cotton bills drawn on New York at par but ⅛@¼ discount was the ruling rate. In checking ¼ premium was invariably the rate, except to bankers who were supplied at a fraction easier. The counter demand for exchange was generally reported lighter than heretofore noted.

Gold opened in New York at 131⅛, advanced to 131¾ during the morning, and closed at 131¾. Dealers here continued to report a dull business at 131@131¾ buying and 132 selling, in small counter transactions. One dealer paid 131¼ for a bag of $1,400.

In scrip there is no quotable change. Inquiry for county warrants at 70 was good, for future delivery, and it is said something higher was paid, which is probably true from the fact that one or two parties who sold short, were in the market at 70, which was the general buying rate. City scrip was scarce and very firm, dealers asking 77@80 for checks, according to amount, and bidding 75@76. Police scrip was quiet and unchanged.

There were no reports of operations in stocks or securities of any kind. Some Shelby county bonds were offered at 60.

The monthly circular of Norton, Slaughter & Co., of New York, for April 1st, is at hand. It gives receipts of cotton at the ports for the four weeks ending March 26th at 143,041 bales, and exports 94,132 bales against 245,375 bales received and 286,439 bales exported for the corresponding four weeks in 1868. Stock at the ports on the 26th ult. were 414,600 bales, and at interior towns 76,196 bales, against 292,-108 and 49,609 bales in 1868. We extract the following figures:

Receipts at all American ports since 1st September, 1868, including overland shipments	1,995,000	bales
Same period last season	2,200,000	"
Decrease this season	205,000	"
Exports from the United States since 1st September, 1868	959,328	"
Same period last season	1,253,486	"
Decrease this season	294,158	"

In the present anomalous condition of the cotton market views of the situation from a New York stand-point are not without interest, and we therefore quote from the above circular as follows:

In explanation of the limited business of the month, it may be remarked that a very large portion of our present stocks is held under limit by Southern shippers at prices which the market does not justify. This course, involving the tying up of large amounts of capital for an indefinite time, has aided in maintaining the stringency of the money market and the high rate of interest and discount. It is not alone the merchants and factors who thus have their funds tied up in cotton and other produce, but bankers as well.

Aside from one formidable and serious drawback to which we shall presently allude, the present statistical position of cotton seems to be a tolerably strong one, if a majority of our Southern correspondents are correct in their views and premises according to the following postulates:

First. The total stocks in Liverpool on the 25th ultimo, were 258,000 bales, including 116,000 bales of American, and at sea for that port 389,000 bales, of which 163,000 bales were from the United States, making a total in port and afloat 647,000 bales, of which 279,000 bales are American cotton. Add to this 415,000 bales now in American ports, and 76,196 bales in the interior towns, shows a visible supply of 770,196 bales of American, and 368,000 bales of other descriptions—total 1,138,196 bales in sight—not taking into account the small stocks in London and Manchester, and the Continental ports, which are much less than last year, especially Man-neither do we count the remaining port receipts of this country for the balance of the season, nor the imports into England from India and other foreign countries, these latter being uncertain in amount and not to be discounted at this early period.

Second. Latest advices from the other side greatly reduce the estimate of imports this year from India and Brazil. From India it is calculated that these imports will fall from 150,000 to 200,000 bales less than last year, and from Brazil from 100,000 to 150,000 bales less.

Third. The apparent exhaustion of our last crop, as indicated by the light receipts at the ports for the past four weeks—though here we remark that some of our correspondents in the extreme South deny this exhaustion, and predict increased receipts for April and May. The result will soon be developed.

Fourth. A large, or at least an average crop this year is insisted on by many, but its possibility denied by others. We are still in the belief that a large crop will be attempted, and base this belief on the fact that immence quantities of fertilizer have been shipped from this port to the Southern States during the autumn and winter—probably more than in any previous ten years together; and we believe also that the much higher and more remunerative price of cotton than cereals will tempt nearly all agricultural effort to the cultivation of the former. The only obstacle in the way of success in these efforts that we can apprehend, is the doubt regarding the procurement of sufficient labor to cultivate the crop to completion. Many say that such labor is out of the question, and that a majority of the negroes whose labor is not monopolized by the railroads, will cultivate small farms and patches for their own account. This is doubtful, and we think that a majority of the planters will offer superior inducements to the freedmen, such as will secure enough labor for a liberal crop, either by liberal wages or by a partition of the crops.

Considering these premises alone, it is not surprising that so many anticipate a much higher scale of prices later in the spring, and that the laws which govern supply and demand should operate to produce a certain and inevitable advance in cotton. But let us now consider the "formidable" drawback above alluded to—namely, the present condition of trade, not only in Europe but in this country. It is an established fact, and well understood by those interested, that there is no margin or profit to the English manufacturer, with goods and yarns at their present value, at the now current price of raw cotton, and that the operations of spinners have been and are now carried on in the face of a serious loss on every pound of their productions. It is, therefore, not to be wondered that so many failures have recently occurred in Lancashire, and so many more reduced to the verge of bankruptcy; nor is it surprising that in self-defense the spinners have reduced their consumption nearly one-half of former seasons, and are now (many of them) working but two days in the week. The result of this course may be, in reducing the stocks of goods, to create an increased demand for them and establish a higher rate of prices, but this result cannot be reached in a few weeks, and hardly in a few months. At any rate their action is highly commended by the leading newspapers in England and America, and is no doubt a wise one.

Cotton Market.

Mississippi Valley Navigation Company of the South and West.

To the Owners of Real Estate in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas:

The Company, known to the public as the "Mississippi Valley Navigation Company of the South and West," is organized under a charter from the State of Louisiana. This charter authorizes a capital stock of five hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of extension to one million. That the public may know the exact object of the Company, the third article of the charter is given entire, as follows:

"The object of this Company is to construct or otherwise procure and maintain one or more steamboats or other vessels, to run on and navigate the Mississippi river, or its tributaries, for the purpose of carrying freight, mails and passengers; to construct docks, wharves, buildings and such other constructions as may be necessary to the building and repairing of vessels, and generally to exercise such incidental powers and privileges as are hereby or may be conferred on them for the purposes aforesaid."

The Company propose, under the provisions of this charter, to construct a line of steamers to run between the different ports on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. They will be constructed on the low-pressure principle; they will carry less steam; they will make better time, and be, in all respects, more safe than any description of boats ever placed upon our waters. Divided into distinct compartments, if disaster, whether by fire or snags, shall happen to one, the boat is not endangered. In case of fire, apparatus for turning steam upon it will be provided, and it is demonstrated that steam is the most effectual extinguisher of fire. In case one compartment is broken through by contact with snags, and fills with water, the others are not endangered, and the boat cannot sink, as pumps, provided for such an emergency, will be in instant operation. Safety to passengers and freight is a great end, worthy of the struggle of the people of the Mississippi Valley.

Nearly three hundred thousand dollars in money and work has already been subscribed to the capital stock of the Company. The Louisiana Legislature has passed a bill subscribing one hundred thousand dollars to the stock to the Company. An additional sum of that amount will, without doubt, be subscribed by the same body. The Company have resolved to take lands for stock, and this is the feature to which they desire to call the attention of owners of real estate. In the Southern States, on account of the disorganized condition of labor, lands are an incumbrance. Vast tracts that yield no revenue to the proprietors, pay exorbitant taxes, and thus cripple their only productive resources. This Company proposes to take these lands, at a fair valuation, and issue to the owners their stock in lieu. If lands shall enhance in value, so will the stock enhance in value, and thus the land proprietor will carry in his pocket the equivalent of his lands, to be converted into money or property without delay. The success of this great enterprise is beyond question. The stockholder, in addition to the benefit of the enhanced value of his lands, will be part owner of a line of boats, and entitled to dividends in their earnings.

Persons wishing to exchange lands for the stock of the Company will send to the Agent at Memphis a description of them, their productive qualities; the timber; bottom or upland; whether overflowed or not; if overflowed, what proportion; how near to county town, to railroad, depot, river and all the facts necessary to afford the Company a satisfactory idea of the land. This may be done by certificates of reliable, disinterested persons residing in the neighborhood. The present actual value of the land may be proved in the same manner. The party offering lands must state in his proposition the lowest figures he will take. The Company will not give exhorbitant prices. The titles must be unincumbered by judgments, mortgages, deeds of trust, tax titles, or otherwise. This may be shown by official certificates of judges, clerks, sheriffs, or the opinions of respectable attorneys. This is believed to be the best opportunity to dispose of surplus lands in the South and West that has yet been or can be offered.

Many of the wealthiest citizens of the South and West are warmly embarked in the enterprise. The General Headquarters of the Company are in New Orleans, but agencies exist in all the principal cities. The enterprise has been indorsed by underwriters, chambers of commerce, engineers, mechanics, practical navigators and all classes of practical men.

The foregoing facts are submitted to the public in the confident belief that they will be understood and appreciated.

NEW PUBLICATION.

Just the Book the People Want!

"OUR RULERS AND OUR RIGHTS," by Judge Anson Willis, of New York, published by Parmelee & Co., Philadelphia.

From the many flattering notices of the press, and commendations of distinguished men, the following is selected:

[From the Methodist Home Journal, Philadelphia.]

"Our Rulers and our Rights," or Outlines of the United States Government; its Origin, Branches, Departments, Institutions, Officers and Modes of Operation, by Judge Anson Willis, Philadelphia: Parmelee & Co.

This publication has many claims to public favor. It covers a field which we believe has never before been attempted. Such a work has long been needed. Every well informed person has felt the want of a manual like this, which would give a concise and intelligible account of the organization of every department of the Federal Government, with the functions, powers and jurisdiction of each, and the facts, historical and political, in any way connected therewith. Perhaps, the name of some candidate for President or Vice President has been desired. Here we have it, and find out how near each came to winning the prize.

How are our judicial districts divided; banking and revenue laws framed; or who was a State Senator, at any given time, are here told.

Sometimes we have sought for the "Coat of Arms" of some State, or its area, population, number of Representatives; or we have wanted to know how the Pension Bureau was organized, or about the Patent Office, or Postoffice Department. This book would have saved hours, perhaps, of searching. All who talk or think of passing events will find this a "vademecum" highly prized. It is not partizan in its character, and evidently aims to be impartial in its statements.

The author's experience in public affairs ought to be a guarantee that the work is reliable, and, so far as we have examined, it deserves a place in every library, and ought to be made a text book in every school.

To be obtained, only by subscription, from Mr. James Lott, sole agent for this District, who will immediately canvass the city for subscribers. mh29

HEATH & CO'S

PATENT WELL BORER.

This Instrument, which has been recently patented by J. W. Heath, of Memphis, Tennessee, is certainly the most Complete and Perfect Apparatus for boring Wells, Post-holes, testing for foundations, and general subterraneous prospecting, that has yet been devised. Experiments with this Auger have proved that two men, with a very little experience in the use of it, can bore in ordinary earth from 75 to 150 Feet Per Day.

It will penetrate any obstructions it may meet with except the hardest rock. Recent experiments have enabled us to complete the apparatus for boring in all its appurtenances, including Coupling, Derrick, Windlass, etc. It is now ready for operation, and can be obtained, together with territorial rights to use the same.

The above patented articles are now on exhibition at our office, 21 Jefferson street, where State, County and United States rights on all of the same can be purchased.

GASTRONOMY.

A NEW ARTICLE OF FOOD

IT was M. Brillat Savarin, the celebrated French Gastronome, who first said that the "man who invents a new dish does more for society than the man who discovers a planet."

THE SANDWICH CHEESE,

An Italian preparation, is now offered to the public as a most delicious, wholesome and convenient Lunch, for the use of families, hotels, sample rooms, bachelors, picnics and travelers. It is eaten on bread, biscuit or toast, and is just such an article as has long been needed.

On the Continent it is held to be a most palatable relish, and as an appetizer and promotive of digestion, very excellent. For Luncheon, or at the close of Dinner, it is UNSURPASSED.

It is excellent for Sandwiches. Especially is it adapted for those climates where the article of Cheese cannot be kept in a sound condition for any length of time.

It may be used as a seasoning for soups, hash or stews, and warmed upon a stove, after the can has been opened, it makes without further preparation a most

DELICIOUS WELSH RARE BIT.

For travelers and others, it is far more economical and convenient than sardines, devilled or potted meats.

The proprietors, whilst unwilling to resort to the usual sensational methods for bringing the

SANDWICH CHEESE

To the notice of the public, cannot but ask for it a trial, feeling satisfied that its merits will then be properly acknowledged.

It is neatly put up in cans, with blue and gold labels, in cases of Two Dozen at $8 per case. Three sample cans sent per express on receipt of $1 25.

For sale by all respectable grocers and dealers in canned goods. Prepared only by

BEMENT BROTHERS,

68 Sixth Avenue, New York.

Also, manufacturers of

BEMENT'S XXX SAUCE,

Equal to any Sauce made. Put up in cases of Two Dozen Bottles at $8 per case.

P. S.—Agents wanted in all parts of the country, to whom liberal commissions will be given. ja28

A sample package of the Extract, with full directions for making Fifty Pounds of Butter, will be sent to any address on the receipt of one dollar.
